The new hoof stand Blacksmith combines professional functionality with modern design. Due to the single unit for post and cradle the user can work on both areas without changing the parts. The height can be suitably adjusted to the size of the animal. The PostCradle© is built with a durable, inner foundation with supportive thick rubber coating to absorb shock and assist grip. The base is a heavy-duty black composite base and guarantees stability. The hexagon shape ensures that it will not roll away if tipped over. In short, a practical hoof stand for all, who want to work without timeconsuming change of units; combined with comfort for animal and human
